21

PERSONALITY DEVELOPMENT– DEALING WITH CUSTOMERS

21.1 APPROPRIATE BEHAVIOUR WITH CUSTOMERS

It is as important for a tailor to behave appropriately with the customers as it is to make their garments skillfully. A tailor needs to be soft spoken and pleasant apart from being skillfull. Without these qualities it will be difficult to have regular customers and expand business. Hence, a tailor should keep the following points in mind.

1. When a customer approaches, he/she should be greeted with a polite - Welcome, how can I help you?
2. Have the customer seated and ask whether he would like something to drink.
3. If the customer shows a cloth, examine it and ask what is to be made out of it or if he asks for an estimate, give it.
4. Measure the cloth after taking the measurements.
6. While taking measurements, stand to one side and not in front of the customer and take measurements for the garment to be made.
7. Take correct measurements after careful inspection of the figure of the customer.
8. Note the name of the person, address, name of garment and the measurements taken in the order look.

9. Ask the customer to come for a trial after a few days.
10. Give the rough stitched garment for a trial when the customer comes again.
11. During the trial, put the alteration marks on the garment and give the customer the final date for collecting the finished garment.
12. A tailor should never make falso promises to a customer. A correct estimation of the final date should be made keeping in mind the amount of work to be done.
13. If the customer has any complaint in the ready garment. Listen carefully and try and correct it.

21.2 OBTAINING LOANS

Loans from banks and financial institutions

One needs money to start any business. Lack of money hampers business. Either one must have own resources or one must know where to obtain money from - banks or financial and centers or financial institutions.

1. The government offers the facility of obtaining loans for setting up small scale industries. These loans can be obtained at a low rate from banks.
2. The loan can be repayed in easy instalments.
3. Apart from banks, many financial institutions also offer loans for establishing industries.
4. The difference between obtaining a loan from a bank and from a financial institution is that banks charge a much lower rate of interest.
5. In order to obtain a loan one has to go to bank or financial institution, fill in an application form and attach the project report of the proposed business.
6. The bank considers the loan amount on the basis of the project report.
7. Representatives of the bank will then inspect the proposed site of the business and submit their report to the bank. The loan money will be sanctioned on the basis of this report.
8. Though a report has to be filed in both cases, it is faster to obtain a loan from a financial institution.

In this way, loans can be obtained from banks and financial institutions.